Raising the Bar on Power and Service.

A Powerful Philosophy

Since 1970, Norvell has offered customers more than just value-added services to meet power requirements. We offer our undivided attention to your business. We concentrate on knowing every customer – every product – very well.

This philosophy was passed down from our privately owned, parent company, Norvell, that believes when you focus your business on generating your customer's success, then both your businesses will be successful.
